

a BIG thank you to all supporting the Land of Hope trust. These are a few of the faces that you kept smiling through 2012. Because of your generous support we have managed to ensure another year of quality education that we would otherwise not have been able to provide.

From everyone at the Land of Hope trust thank you for your support.

A new school year... exciting times ahead

The holidays are a distant memory and the start of the New Year is bringing its own challenges. Saying goodbye on the 1st day of school is a challenge on its own. What a blessing to know that our children have the best education and care and this is made possible by your support. Buying a Land of Hope Chenin Blanc, Pinot Noir or Cabernet Sauvignon not only means that you bought a premium wine to enjoy with friends and family, but that you are also buying into the Trust that works.

Happening in 2013

23 March 2013 - Harvest festival fun day. Everyone is joining in the harvest and afterwards we are having a braai and some fun in the sun. Don't worry we'll have pics for all those who cannot attend. Keep an eye on our Facebook page.

We have expanded our range to include a fabulous new Reserve Pinot Noir. It has already been listed by Marks & Spencer in the UK and Frogitt & Vonkel in SA, two of our best supporters. Many thanks to them !

If you have not had a chance to sample this elegant wine I urge you to do so at your next purchase.

Harvest 2013

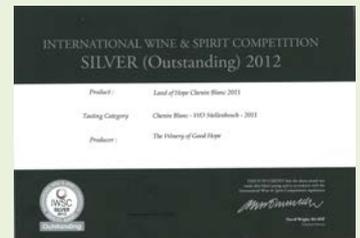

We are expecting a bumper harvest this year. The Cab is already ripening exceptionally well and who wouldn't like to sink one's wine teeth into a Stellenbosch Chenin. After last year's successful harvest day, everyone is excited to help out with this year's harvest. This day is a harvest celebration and everyone joins in on the fun. Feel free to join us on 23 March and experience history in the making.

We are picking the same grapes that our daddy will magic into wine which will pay for my education. It doesn't look too much like work to me...

Awards

Our latest accolade comes in the form of a Silver Medal from the International Wine and Spirit Competition. A truly great achievement. And a worthy one to add to our previous awards.

It's always good when your labour is your love. For most people it's unfortunate that they will never experience this true balance. We at the Land of Hope Trust experience this every day. We know that everyone's contribution is pivotal to the success of the trust and together with your support we can ensure sustainable growth for years to come. Thank you.

What happened to the kids?

We are proud to announce that all our kids have passed their grades, some have moved over to other schools and some have decided to pursue their careers now. Our trust family is growing and this year we have 2 more additions, taking the direct beneficiaries to 14. We would like to grow more projects but for now our first and foremost objective is that the educational needs of our children are entirely provided for. All in all 2012 was a success and 2013 will be even bigger. Watch this space and check out our updated website.
